The Online Course Catalogue

The online course catalogue is available at <http://lsf.verwaltung.uni-muenchen.de/>. You can switch to a partially English surface by clicking on "english version" in the right upper corner. There, you can also choose the semester you would like to check for classes. You can use the catalogue without having a username and a password.

1.) Checking the Course Offerings of a Department

Choose "course overview" and then the Department you are interested in

Within the Department, you will find the various fields of study. In this example, you can see that “Social Sciences” subsumes Politics, Sociology and Communication Science.

Contents

Description	Jointly with the lecture 'Internationale Beziehungen I', the Basic Course introduces students to the subfield of International Relations (IR). In the first part, the course will discuss key theories of IR, including Realism, Institutionalism, Liberalism, Constructivism and Poststructuralist theories of international politics. The second part will apply these theories to concrete empirical events and policy areas such as security, economics, development, the environment and human rights. By the end of the course, students should be able to apply different IR theories and thereby explain different international political phenomena.
Literature	Baylis, John/ Smith, Steve (Hrsg.) 2008: The Globalization of World Politics: An Introduction to International Relations, Oxford. Dunne, Tim/ Kurki, Milja/ Smith, Steve (Hrsg.) 2007: International Relations Theories: Discipline and Diversity, Oxford.

2.) Checking for Courses Taught in English

Click on "Search for Lectures". This will open the search function for you.

You cannot, unfortunately, check a full academic year. Either you select one semester or all the semesters currently available in the online course catalogue. Also select the desired language of instruction, and your preferred department. Make sure that "type of lecture" is set at "Select all". Otherwise, your search will not produce particularly useful results. Do not choose "Curricula" as a search option! Even for LMU students, this option is difficult to understand.

To select the department, click on the department you are interested in and, if available and appropriate, the sub-department and individual chairs. Unless you need to choose very specific classes, it is not advisable to go beyond the second level (i.e. sub-departments) since this will inevitably reduce the number of hits you obtain.

To return to the original search page click on "commit choice (all branches)" (all results for the entire department or subdepartment that you have chosen) or "commit choice (only this level)" (results only for the level that you have chosen). The latter choice makes sense only if you are searching on the level of individual chairs.
